The entries were Hugh Dyer's "Frederick," Doctor White's "Little Jim," W. C. Williams' "Auction Boy and Mr. Barbee's "Billy Button." The latter horse was a good favorite and was driven by Harrington, who had had him in training for some time.

Billy jumped ahead at the wire and led until the finish, the others stringing out behind with Little Jim a good second. Auction Boy third and Fred. erick last. In the second heat Billy again won easily, and they began to think Barbee's horse would have a walk-over, but it soon transpired that he didn't.
